A smarter way forward: Privilege Logging with eDiscovery AI

eDiscovery AI - Privilege Logging

Privilege review is one of the most complex and time-intensive parts of eDiscovery. With inconsistent standards across courts, varied attorney approaches, and high stakes for accuracy, legal teams face:

- Tight deadlines in investigations and litigation
- Inconsistent privilege log entries that create defensibility issues
- Overinclusion that drives costs and delays
- Risk of inadvertent disclosure leading to privilege waivers or sanctions

The Scenario

On many regulatory Second Requests, culling tools are used to identify the relevant document set; privilege terms are then used across that set to identify privileged families. Quite often, this requires reviewing hundreds of thousands of documents in very little time, often only weeks or mere days. Most privilege reviews involve scores of attorneys compiling all the necessary information, examining only a limited number of documents per hour, adding quality control steps to catch mistakes, and rushing to meet deadlines, with unavoidable cost overruns.

The eDiscovery AI Advantage

With eDiscovery AI, privilege review is transformed:

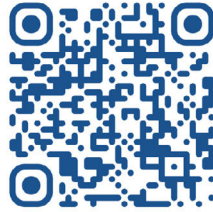

- Customizable log entries to align with regulator, court, or client standards
- AI-prepopulated privilege calls and narratives that minimize variation
- Exceptional speed to accurately classify the documents and prepare the privilege log
- Attorney oversight through QC, preserving defensibility while speeding throughput

The Impact

Legal teams can meet tight deadlines, reduce manual hours, and gain confidence in the consistency of their privilege logs. Instead of clicking boxes and composing text, reviewers are QCing the output and editing as needed. Instead of scrambling, attorneys prioritize oversight and strategic decision-making.

Why It Matters

Privilege logging doesn't have to be a bottleneck. With AI, it becomes a predictable, efficient, and defensible process. Don't let privilege review slow you down. Partner with eDiscovery AI to move faster, stay compliant, and protect your clients.
